

TOURISM & HOSPITALITY EXECUTIVE OVERVIEW

|               |                          |                         |                              |                  |               |
|---------------|--------------------------|-------------------------|------------------------------|------------------|---------------|
| TOTAL TOURIST | AVERAGE TOURIST SPENDING | AVERAGE HOTEL OCCUPANCY | AVERAGE TOURIST SATISFACTION | TOTAL EMPLOYMENT | TOTAL REVENUE |
| 17.4M         | ₹3,102                   | 64.0                    | 7.8                          | 3.4M             | ₹54M          |

Key Insights

- China generated the highest tourism revenue (13M).
- Tourism revenue peaked in 2023 (44M) before declining in 2024.
- China attracted the highest number of tourists.
- Average hotel occupancy remained around 65%, indicating moderate room utilization.
- The average tourist satisfaction score is 7.4/10, suggesting generally positive visitor experiences.
- Total tourism revenue reached $175M during the study period.

Tourist Behaviour & Customer Experience

Total Tourist
₹17.4M TOURISTS

Average Tourist Spending
₹3,102 PER TOURIST

Average Length of Stay
8.8 DAYS

Online Reviews vs Satisfaction

Tourist Spending vs Length of Stay

Tourist Satisfaction by Country

Average Length of Stay by Country

Tourist Spending by Purpose of Visit

Key Insights

- 1.Educational tourism has the highest average tourist spending, indicating that education-related travel contributes significantly to tourism revenue.
- 2.India records the longest average tourist stay (10.6 days), suggesting visitors remain for extended experiences.
- 3.A positive relationship exists between length of stay and tourist spending, indicating that longer visits generally lead to higher expenditure.
- 4.The United Kingdom achieves the highest tourist satisfaction score (8.5/10), reflecting a strong customer experience.
- 5.There is a positive relationship between tourist satisfaction and online reviews, suggesting satisfied visitors are more likely to leave feedback.
- 6.Countries with lower satisfaction scores present opportunities to improve tourism services and customer experience.

Hotel Performance & Sustainability

Average Hotel Occupancy

64.02

Average Hotel Rating

3.2/ 5

Average Revenue per Hotel

₹2,154

Hotel Occupancy by Country

Revenue per Hotel by Country

Eco Tourism Revenue by Country

Eco Revenue vs Carbon Footprint

Hotel Rating vs Occupancy

Key Insights

- China records the highest revenue per hotel (₹70K), indicating strong hotel profitability.
- China also leads in eco-tourism revenue, demonstrating a strong sustainable tourism market.
- Hotel occupancy increases with hotel rating, suggesting higher-rated hotels attract more guests.
- Countries with higher eco-tourism revenue also tend to have higher carbon footprints, highlighting the need to balance tourism growth with environmental sustainability.
- Canada shows relatively lower revenue per hotel despite moderate occupancy, indicating opportunities to improve pricing or service offerings.

Tourism Infrastructure & Economic Impact

Average Transport Infrastructure Quality

5.403

Airport Passenger Traffic

₹68.7M

Tourism GDP Contribution

₹1,337.00

GDP Contribution by Country

Airport Passenger Traffic by Country

Transport Infrastructure Quality by Country

Airport Traffic vs Tourism Revenue

Infrastructure Quality vs Tourist Satisfaction

Business Recommendations

1. Invest in transport infrastructure in countries with lower quality scores to improve accessibility and tourist satisfaction.
2. Expand airport capacity and connectivity in high-demand destinations to support future tourism growth.
3. Promote tourism in countries with lower GDP contribution to diversify economic benefits.
4. Improve visitor services alongside infrastructure development to maximize tourist satisfaction and spending.